I'm Going In, Who's with Me — Arming for Combat

No one can argue that our world is not broken, that spiritual battles are not raging on all fronts, and that culture wars have divided virtually every segment of society.

It is now time for a few good men to stand up in faith and begin to fight back for what matters most, our families. And to arm ourselves for the battle raging ahead of us, we must grow in wisdom, knowledge, and insight.

Come join us as we develop strategies and arm ourselves for the battle raging around us, even within our own families. This event is open to all men.
